How do new NTEE categories get added? (FAQ)

We currently have more than 600 different NTEE codes to choose from, and we get requests for new ones on a regular basis. We weigh a number of factors when choosing to add a code:

- Are there numerous organizations that would fit into the category? (We currently classify over 2 million organizations.)
- Do current alternatives provide sufficient detail for policy-makers, analysts, and practitioners?
- Is there an important public policy reason to add a code? A code for "Global warming and climate change" is likely to be added soon.

You can help us keep our coding system up-to-date and relevant. Let us know your perspective:

Do you have a sense about the number of organizations that ought to be classified in a category that you are proposing?

Why would current options not suffice?

Thank you for your feedback!
